ANGEL'S FLIGHT CARS MET IN CRASH

18 Persons Hurt; One Perhaps Fatally—First Accident for Flight System

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—In the first accident in the history of the Angel's Flight railway eighteen persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, when at 6:30 o'clock last evening the control shaft operating the two drums upon which the cables wound snapped, and a loaded car just starting for the bottom was released and plunged down the steep tracks, telescoping with the car just starting from the bottom.

That the shaft was defective is the belief of several persons who looked at the broken machinery following the accident.

One woman was perhaps fatally injured, Mrs. Wm. Hostetter of the Lovejoy apartments. She jumped from the car and struck upon the trestle. She was picked up and rushed to the Pacific Hospital, where an operation was decided upon. It was reported she was suffering from a fractured shoulder and internal injuries.

The County Highway Commission has reported to the supervisors recommending a bond issue of $1,500,000 for a highway system in all portions of the county.

IS A QUESTION OF RAISING $12,400 IN PAVING OF STREET

Lester Wants to Know if the School Board Will Insist
Upon Full Demand
City Anxious to Have Good
Pavement to join the County
Highway System

RECOMMENDATION IS UNDER THE ESTIMATE

Auditor Wants to Know so that He Can Proceed With Computation Taxes
Sidewalks Will be Put Down
Under the Vrooman Act
Where Owners Are Slow

County Auditor Lester proposes to have a meeting of the Santa Ana Board of Education, the Board of Supervisors and County Superintendent of Schools Mitchell to discuss the proposed fixing of the Santa Ana High School district tax rate. It seems that the high school board asked for a special tax rate that will raise $62,400 for the coming year. Mitchell recommended an amount that at a rate of ninety cents on the $100 will raise about $50,000. If the rate is fixed as Mitchell recommends, the district will have $12,400 less than the board estimates will be needed to run the schools and make necessary improvements this year.

Lester wants to begin the computation of taxes. He could proceed to compute the taxes upon Mitchell's recommendation, but for the fact that as he understands the law the school board might compel the board to fix a rate that will raise the money desired. Should the board take that attitude later, Lester's computations made now would be lost, and he would have the work to do over again.

The school board estimates that its total needs for the year is $74,844. From state and county funds and tuition fund the district will receive $12,444, leaving $62,400 that the district has recommended that the district be allowed a special tax rate that will raise $45,500. This would mean a rate of ninety cents. As a matter of fact, the ninety-cent rate would raise about $5000 more than that for the reason that in making his estimate the county school superintendent must allow a deduction of fifteen per cent of the assessed valuation to cover possible delinquent taxes. Delinquent taxes really cut no appreciable figure, yet the law requires the fifteen per cent deduction. So actually, the ninety-cent rate will raise a little over $50,000. In order to raise $62,400 a rate of about $1.15 would be required.

Lester stated today that he was informed by one of the school authorities that the board expects to insist upon its demand for $62,400, for the reason that the district cannot get through the year for less than that and do the things that should be done. Salaries alone for teachers, janitors, etc., will total $52,000. The application of the high school board for the special tax has the following itemized statement of the estimated expenditures of the school year, July 1, 1913, to July 1, 1914:

To pay maintenance debts	outstanding Aug. 1, 1913	$ 4,519
For salaries of 37 teachers, including supt. and principals		46,750
Salaries of three janitors		3,600
Salaries of clerks, etc.		850
Salaries of librarian, etc.		850
Power, ventilation and shops		400
For books		250
For fuel		500
For water		500
For light		100
For furnishings for domestic science and arts		750
For lockers		1,500
For laundry		15
For printing		175
For telephones		50
For postage, drayage		75
Insurance for three years		1,500
For window shades ordered		1,000
For machinery and installation ordered		3,500
Office furniture, filing outfit		510
Desk, seats, chairs		750
Laboratories, lumber, etc.		1,000
Athletic grounds		750
Sidewalks, sprinkling system		4,000
Lunch room, cafeteria, seats		1,000
Total needs		$74,844
State and county school funds		$12,444
Amount to be raised by sp. tax		$62,400

The above estimate is entirely separate from the common school district. The High School district is not limited by law as to the amount that can be demanded and recommended. The common school district is limited to a special tax rate of thirty cents. The limit has been asked by the school board, recommended by the county school superintendent and will be allowed by the Board of Supervisors.

VICE PRESIDENT PUTS RAILWAY COMPANIES ON RED HOT GRILL

Says Stinginess and Greed Responsible For Disasters—Dividends Valued
More Than Human Life

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Vice President Marshall today denounced railroad parsimony exposing passengers to death that watered stock dividends may be paid. He declared that many fatalities occur because the railroads cannot afford steel cars and also pay dividends on such stock. The vice president said he believed the courts interfere too much in state railway commission regulations. The following statement was made by him: (BY THOMAS R. MARSHALL)

If I stick a knife into a man I am charged with murder, but we let the railroad directors use wooden cars and cause great fatalities because steel cars cost too much. They cannot afford them and also pay dividends on watered stock. There is no question but that steel cars are among the greatest railroad safety devices. The public demands the greatest possible safety, and is even ready to stand increased rates to secure it, but if the railroads would not water their stock they could easily equip their lines with safety devices at the present rates.

The trouble with the railroads is that there are too many "wheels within wheels," corporations within corporations. I think the people when they Culloch and Building Inspector Finley on the Grand Opera House and the Auditorium Theater was received last night, and when read Trustee McPhee moved that it be placed on file and that the committee be continued. The report was:

"In accordance with your instructions of Aug. 25, 1913, we have made an examination of the electric wiring in the Grand Opera House and Auditorium Theater with the result as follows:

"Auditorium Theater.—The switchboard and motion picture apparatus room have not been fully completed. With these slight defects, which the manager promised to have promptly attended to, the work is in first class condition.

"Grand Opera House.—Some recent wiring has been done in this building without a permit or inspection. Some circuits were found overloaded and the wiring in other places carelessly placed.

"We would recommend that the work in the building be overhauled by experienced workmen and defects remedied.

"WM. McCULLOUGH,
"Electric Inspector.
"S. H. FINLEY,
"Building Inspector."

One Bid Received
Bids for handling the garbage of the city for the next year were opened. One bid was received. It was $250 a month from Caulfield & Perry, who now have the city contract.

Two Collections a Week and the removal of dead animals and trash are included. The bid was referred to the police committee.

The resolution of intention for paving North Broadway between Hickey street and Santa Clara avenue was given second reading.

Trustee Alderman called attention to an article in the Pacific Municipalities that stated that every piece of property on a street acted upon by the Vrooman act must pay its share of the expenses of the procedure, even though that property owner do the work designated by private contract. He said it would be a mistake to pass the resolution. The city attorney refused otherwise.

The resolution carried, with McPhee, Greenleaf and By voting aye and Alderman no.

Two Per Cent
The Pacific Telephone Co. reported as gross receipts for 1912-13 in Santa Ana to be $38,960. The city's share on the franchise is $778, being two per cent of the gross receipts.

The first reading of the annual tax ordinance was had, the sums for the various funds being left blank until the next meeting. The trustees have already announced that the city rate will be $1.20 per $100, the same as last year.

A letter from the Railroad Commission stated that the first step to be taken by the P. E. to get a permit to cross the East Fourth street railroads is through co-operation with these railroads, submitting a map. The letter was filed and a copy sent to the P. E.

Bids for road and fuel oil were ordered called for.

LOLA NORRIS EXPECTED WEDLOCK

Testimony Shows that Drew Caminetti Promised He Would Marry Her

WAS TO DIVORCE WIFE ON GROUNDS OF CRUELTY

Defense Will Seek to Prove Girl
Disgrace of Scandal

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—That Drew Caminetti promised both before and after leaving Sacramento to marry Lola Norris was the allegation made today in court by Reporter W. R. Doane, of Sacramento, the first witness when the Caminetti trial was resumed. He said he with Assistant District Attorney Atkinson of Sacramento boarded the train at Truckee when the quartette was being returned to Sacramento and that Atkinson questioned both Miss Norris and Caminetti, he taking the answers in shorthand. Doane testified that Atkinson asked Caminetti if he had promised to get a divorce and marry her as soon as the law allowed, and that Caminetti replied, "I believe I did." Atkinson asked if the promise was made in good faith, Caminetti, Doane testifying, replying "Yes."

Doane also testified that the official asked Miss Norris: "Did Caminetti promise to marry you?" the girl replying, "He most certainly did, otherwise I would not have made the trip."

Doane testified that Atkinson asked Miss Norris on what grounds Caminetti expected to get a divorce, the reply being "physical cruelty," and that the girl refused to answer further questions along that line. Atkinson then asked if Caminetti had ever said that his only regret over leaving Sacramento was because of his oldest child, a girl. She replied: "Yes, he expressed great devotion for the child, saying he would send for her when the divorce proceedings were under way."

Attorney Woodworth, for the defense asked Doane if Atkinson asked the girl whether she was intimate with Caminetti before leaving Sacramento, but the stenographer's notes contained no reference to this. The court then granted a temporary recess after which Caminetti was scheduled to be called.

Marsha Warrington and Lola Norris left Sacramento for the same purpose as Caminetti and Diggs, to avoid the scandal that their relations caused. This was the opening statement of Marshal Woodworth outlining what the defense will attempt to prove.

"We will show that the girls were as eager to avoid disgrace as the defendant, and that no coercion was attempted; that Caminetti did not buy the railroad tickets; that he had been warned that he would be dismissed from his position because of his conduct with Lola Norris."

Woodworth attempted to read the Mann white slave act and the Caminetti indictment to the jury, the judge refusing to permit him to do so. The defense occasioned surprise by introducing new witnesses, G. A. Putnam, a reporter for a Sacramento paper said he met the Warrington girl by appointment prior to the elopement, and told her that Diggs' wife meant to make trouble. He also told her that she need not fear that his paper would air the scandal.

VOTED FOR TWENTY PRESIDENTS
SEATTLE, Wn., Sept. 3.—Very few men in the United States today have the distinction of having voted for twenty presidents of the United States. One of the few—if not the only man alive today—who holds this honor, is Thomas Wardall, who today celebrated his ninety-eighth birthday. Wardall was born during the presidency of James Madison and cast his first vote for William Henry Harrison in 1836. Since that time Wardall has voted in every presidential election. He has always taken the liveliest interest in national and local politics. Attending the birthday celebration were ten members of the Borrowed Time Club whose ages aggregate 804 years.

BURGLARS TRY CITY MARSHAL

Huntington Beach Officer Was Roused When Someone Tried His Window

City Marshal Vincent of Huntington Beach sent a call to the sheriff's office today for help. Last night somebody or somebody tried their very level best to burglarize that officer's residence, and but for the fact that the officer is a light sleeper and the burglar rather a noisy fellow, something might have been stolen.

Vincent was awakened by the noise made by a man prying open a window. Vincent called out. He then went to the room, and the visitor ran. This afternoon Under Sheriff Law and Deputy Dean went to Huntington Beach to run down some clues that had been picked up by Vincent.

DID NOT GIVE HIS APPROVAL

Inspector Found Remodelling of Opera House Not Yet Finished

Owing to the fact that the Grand Opera House has not yet been completed in accordance with the recommendation of Architect Hudson, the Christian Science lecture last night was held at the Temple Theater instead of at the opera house.

City Building Inspector Finley examined the building yesterday, and found that the work of remodelling the building had not yet been finished. He told the contractor, G. E. Preble, that until the work is all done in accordance with the contract entered into by the Trustees, the owner, Wm. F. Lutz, and the lessee, N. A. Um, he could not officially approve the use of the Grand Opera House. The contract referred to was that in which all parties agreed to abide by the decision of Architect Hudson.

BAR ASSOCIATION CONVENTION CLOSING

MONTREAL, Canada, Sept. 3.—"The Struggle for Simplification of Legal Procedure" was the principal subject discussed today at the sessions of the American Bar Association which tonight will close a three days' annual convention with a banquet. The question under discussion was treated under three sub-topics. "Some Causes" was discussed by William C. Hook of Kansas, judge of the federal circuit court of appeals for the eighth district. N. Charles Burke of Maryland, associate judge of the Maryland court of appeals, took up a sub-topic, "Legal Procedure and Social Unrest," and William A. Blount of Florida spoke on "The Goal and Its Attainment." The routine business today included nomination of officers, unfinished business, miscellaneous business and election of officers. Senator Elihu Root of New York will preside at tonight's banquet and be the guest of honor and principal speaker will be M. F. Labori, distinguished French advocate, who was leading counsel for the defense of Dreyfus at Rennes. He is now Batonnier of the Paris bar.

POTASH INVESTIGATIONS

Those who are interested in the search for deposits of potash salts in the West will send to the United States Geological Survey for a copy of advance chapter N from Bulletin 540, entitled "Papers on Potash and Other Salines," by Hoyt S. Gale. This report consists of a series of notes on what are known as the Quaternary (prehistoric) lakes of the Great Basin, with special reference to the deposition of those salines.

The existence of extensive lakes in certain of the larger catchment areas of the Great Basin region undoubtedly had an important influence on the concentration there of saline material. From a study of the physiographic history of the region it appears that some of these catchment basins may now be considered as more favorable and some as less favorable places in which to look for large concentrated saline deposits, especially with reference to the possible occurrence of valuable potash salts. Mr. Gale's report suggests a distinction that may be drawn between the desert-basin areas, from which some conclusions of practical importance with reference to saline deposits may be deduced.

The report includes discussions and analyses of the brines of Death Valley; of the salts, borax, and potash in Saline Valley, Inyo County, California; potash tests from wells in Columbus Marsh, Nevada, and discussions and analyses from deposits of sodium sulphate in Soda Lake, in the Carrizo Plains, San Luis Obispo County, Cal.

A copy of Mr. Gale's report may be obtained free of charge upon application to the Director of the U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

HEALTH FOR OUR SCHOOL CHILDREN

When the school pupil complains of headache, one's first thought is that a ball game is about to begin somewhere, or that there has been a chance to go on a picnic. Still, the statisticians do say that there is an enormous amount of ill health among the children. One writer says that in one recent school term, 15,000 children left their desks in five American cities, because of diseases and poor health. With facts like these to work on, the fourth International Congress of School Hygiene, in session at New York the past week, should be something more than a gathering of faddists.

Ready made ventilation is supposed to be provided in a "modern" school house. Yet the complaint is still heard from many artificially ventilated buildings, that the air feels as if it were baked, and the children still have headaches.

The old time school, if it was gifted with an alert teacher, often seemed to fare quite as well. She would have a thorough cleaning out of foul air about every hour. If the weather was cold, the children marched around the room, and returned to their books with fresh energy.

Several years ago many thousands of New York children could attend school only half a day, on account of crowded buildings. A scientist investigated, and found that the "half timers" made better progress than those who attended all day.

Clean habits mean a great deal. From the sediment from a drinking cup in one school, an infection was made into the skin of a healthy guinea pig, and he died in forty hours.

Let it be hoped that this world-wide gathering of school hygienists has some practical suggestions to prevent the costly interruption of school work by diseases and anaemia. The tax payers don't get any return on their money while the doctors and the nurses have the children.

The Legislature created ten new notaryships for San Francisco. The total number will be one hundred and ten. This limitation, which applies nowhere else in California, makes a notaryship in the big bay city desirable. The joys of the office of governor may be contemplated in consideration of the fact that there are five hundred and fifty applications for the ten places.

DOGS ARE HAVING THEIR DAY
BAY CITY, Mich., Sept. 3.—With high-bred dogs from all over the United States and Canada entered in competition, the annual licensed dog show of the Bay City Field Trial Club, held in connection with the Northwestern Michigan fair, opened here today. The entrants have all been passed as eligibles under the American Kennel Club rules. A. W. Gates of Chicago, secretary-treasurer of the club, is in charge of the competitions.

Orange County Business College fall term opens Sept. 1.

WHAT IS A BAD BOY?

I don't know for I've never met one. What is more, I don't believe you have either. Mr. Webster tells us "bad" means "wanting of good qualities." Stop! Do you know an American boy who actually lacks every good quality? True, they may not be bulging out all over his make-up and they may have to be pointed out to you, but they are present in every boy, and a "bad" boy is not.

But I do not need to tell you this; you know it already. Only the other day a gentleman told me it seemed to him that the boys were "all bad these days." Poor man, he was born and reared in practical seclusion; never witnessing human hunger nor despondency. And, when he said to me "I never was a boy myself, I guess,"—then I understood.

I wonder boys are as good as they are. The wonder is that they are not really "bad." Born into homes of unfair economical conditions, with destructive social and industrial life all about them, mothers dead or deserted by husbands, or, born into homes of moderate or exceptional opportunities, but full of misunderstanding, hypocrisy, selfishness, disharmony,—is it any wonder boys get an exaggerated, dwarfed, dangerous conception of play and work, of religion and sacred relations?

"Bad" boys are not. They are making mistakes, (so are older folks) they are committing wrongs, (so are older folks), not because they want to but because the odds are all against them,—that's why.

Tell a boy he's "bad" and you have greased the tracks for his downward slide; but pin your faith to an American boy and you have already served your country well. Give him a lift. Put yourself in his place. Cheer, council, befriend and forgive.—He is not bad. He needs your boost to a better boyhood.

The California George Junior Republic, Chino, Cal., must have three thousand friends who will give at least five dollars a year towards producing citizens of brain, of brawn, of power.

JUST A HEART TO HEART TALK WITH THE REGISTER'S FRIENDS

From time to time, as space is available, the Register is publishing expressions of appreciation of its "Orange County Quarter Centennial Edition." These expressions are entirely voluntary, and we believe they are wholly sincere. They are published, primarily, for the purpose of advertising the "special edition," to make it sell, both for the sake of the Register's bank account, in which it has made such a big deep hole, and in order to get the biggest and best advertising value out of it for Orange County.

In our advance announcement of this publication we said we were going into it "largely out of public spirit, hoping to make it at least, pay expenses, with a bare possibility of some profit and a strong probability of considerable loss."

WE GOT THE LOSS ALL RIGHT, TO THE TUNE OF ABOUT $1500; which is mentioned here mainly for the information of the very few who sneered at the idea of the Register going into anything out of public spirit.

Incidentally it may be mentioned that the Register built its new home "largely out of public spirit." We could have provided all the comforts, conveniences and facilities for our business for $10,000 less money than our new home has cost us, but we wanted it to be a credit to Santa Ana, a benefit, a help in building up the town, in making over its ugly waste places into places of progress and attractiveness.

For our loss on the "special edition" and our investment in future and aesthetic values in our new home, we are already largely compensated by the expressions of appreciation of which those published from time to time are but samples.

One that came today from Mrs. W. C. Blee, 328 Aldebaran Canal, Venice, Cal., says:

"The 'Edition' is certainly an excellent advertisement of Orange County, and is well worth the price of half a year's subscription to the Register. Please send a copy for me to C. H. Gritan, 4012 North Hermitage Ave., Chicago," etc.

A. J. Crookshank of the First National Bank and Santa Ana Co-operative Sugar Co., says:

"It is not only the best 'special edition' for a town of this size that I ever saw, but the best for a town of any size."

J. E. Owens, secretary of the Patrick County (Va.) Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union of America writes:

"Your paper is certainly up-to-the-minute in every particular."

A letter received by J. S. Talcott from W. A. Schaezel, president of the Union County Bank, of Elk Point, South Dakota, says:

"The Register received, and have been looking it over several times. I must say that it is gotten up as well as anything I have ever seen in that line! And your county certainly has plenty of resources, thanks to irrigation."

Such expressions as these could be multiplied indefinitely, and we are certainly thankful to the friends who give them or bring them to our attention.

Ringling Circus Will Be Here on Sept. 12

The longest and most costly parade ever seen with a circus will pass through the streets of this city on Friday, Sept. 12. Ringling Brothers will present it. It is their latest effort and it will be a big surprise. It is by one driver. There are also teams of elephants, llamas, deer and zebras. There are six of these latter animals hitched to an Oriental throne car in which rides an Indian potentate with his retinue. Zebras are supposed to be unbreakable. There is a trainer with this circus which disproves this theory.

Nearly 1500 men, women and children appear in the parade. They have been gathered from the nations of Europe and Asia and from the remotest savage lands. The characteristic music of these many peoples is presented by great brass bands, quaint pipers, Scottish bag-pipe companies, cathedral bells, siren pipes, pipe organs, castanet ballets, reed and string musicians, tom-tom players, barbarian orchestras, calliope and drum, life and bugle corps.

Over 600 horses of the finest breeds will be seen. There will be displayed more than one-half the elephants in America. The Ringlings are generous in the display of their wild animals. A bigger menagerie than any other show owns will be exhibited in open dens and cages. The parade is over three miles in length.

The equipment of this pageant was built last winter in the foreign workshops of the show at Stoke-on-Trent, England. It was designed by the best artists of France and Italy. The costumes are made from the finest broadcloths and silks. The scarfs, banners, flags and standards are expensive Japanese works of art. The wagons, floats and various other vehicles were made from the best woods. They are hand-carved and burnished with pure gold-leaf.

One portion of the spectacle tells a wonderful story to the children. All the characters from fairy tales and the lore of infancy are portrayed by professional pantomimists. A great floating ball of spun glass, in which rides the queen of fairies, leads this section. After it comes fantastic floats, depicting scenes from the Arabian Nights, pumpkin carriages, the shoe of Mother Goose fame, a view of Undine's submarine palace, Aladdin's palace of enchantment, and a hundred other pictures which all children understand.

For the older minds there are more serious subjects to admire. There is the royal caravan of the Queen of Sheba, the Iron horse of Troy, the fleet of Christopher Columbus in replica, and groups of Sahara campers, Australian boomerang-throwers, a section of Chinese pagentry during a wedding in high life, reproductions of the water spectacles displayed at

It will be Langford's first appearance here in more than a year. The winner is expected to claim the black heavyweight title of America.

ENJOYED CONVENTION

Santa Ana Women Attend Semi-Annual Fraternal Aid Meet Held at San Diego

Mrs. G. R. West, Mrs. H. L. Zimmerman, Mrs. Agnes Cullum and Mrs. R. H. English represented the Fraternal Aid Lodge of Santa Ana at the semi-annual district convention held at San Diego last Saturday in Germania hall. They left here for the southern city last Friday, joining a jolly crowd of delegates from all over Southern California, and had a lively trip to San Diego.

There were over 100 delegates present at the convention, besides 100 other visiting members. The convention transacted but little besides routine business as election of officers and other serious matters took place at the last semi-annual meeting. Social affairs occupied the time of the delegates who were splendidly entertained. Theater parties, a luncheon of 180 covers on the roof of the American Bank building, competitive drills from Pasadena and Los Angeles with Pasadena winning, a visit to the exposition grounds and a big dance on Saturday night made up a round of social parties for the visitors that were enjoyed to the utmost.

The Fraternal Aid is one of the largest fraternal associations in the country, and has large lodges in Orange county.

Off for Oregon College

William Smart and Arthur Lutz left this afternoon for Corvallis, Oregon, where they will enter the State Agricultural College. They are making the journey via the Shasta Limited from San Francisco. School does not open until Sept. 25 or 26, but the two young men, who will be members of the college football team, will join the others in a two weeks' training outing at Newport, Oregon.

Others who will go from here on Sept. 15 to the Corvallis college, making the trip by boat, are Horace Stevens of Tustin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Stevens; Ralph Lowry, Earl Schooley and Nelson Visel.

A Day at Balboa

Mrs. Alfred H. Partridge had for weekend guests Mrs. Huff and Miss Stella Huff. They motored to Balboa.

A SWIFT TIME

Mrs. Bonnie Glessner, formerly of Santa Ana, but now of the Los Angeles Times staff, had what is literally the swiftest time of her life the other day when she went spinning around the Corona track with Teddy Teitzel in the "fastest three-mile lap ever made on a circular track," smashing the world's record.

Not only was that the speediest track run ever made by Mrs. Glessner, but it eclipsed any similar speed turn ever made by a woman. So she had a double feather in her cap. Utilizing her wonderful experience, the motion part of which, together with Mrs. Glessner's taking smile, was caught by the omnipresent "movies." Mrs. Glessner has a clever little write-up in the Times this morning of how it seems to see yourself as others see you, per the camera man's camera. Like everything that Mrs. Glessner writes, the story is alive with "human interest" and the little string of pictures from the moving picture-story of the world-beating spin, will be especially appreciated by Santa Ana readers.

where they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Day, James Day, Mr. Hoffman, Miss Mary Hoffman, Frank Partridge, Mrs. Harned and Joseph Partridge, Jr.

At noon a cafeteria dinner was served, orders being filled as many times as desired on one ticket. The idea was Mrs. Day's and was unique.

Recital Postponed

The recital to have been given by Miss Ruth Deardorff and Miss Irene Balcom on September 8 has been postponed. The new date will be announced within a few days.

Maccabee Picnic

The Lady Maccabees of Santa Ana picnicked yesterday at Newport Beach. There were a goodly number who enjoyed the affair.

Besides the plentiful picnic dinner eaten in the pavilion at noon, the ladies indulged in swims and plunges in the surf and a "hike" to Balboa taken in bare feet along the shore line of the waves.

The trip to and from was made in automobiles and via electric car.

Entertained Children

A committee of twenty-two Eastern Star ladies headed by Mrs. George Balderston, last evening entertained fifty-seven children and seven officers from the Masonic Orphans Home at San Gabriel, with an appetizing supper served in the Masonic Temple banquet room.

Following the supper the children gave a program including a drill by several little girls, music by a mandolin club of seven girls, recitations and songs by tots. All did well.

Miss Bird Della Henry, a recent arrival in Santa Ana, pleased the children and the older persons present by giving two beautiful recitations.

Birthday Party

Misses Maybelle Patterson and Ellen Roth left Saturday for Long Beach to attend a week end house party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carter. That evening a birthday party was given for Miss Carter in honor of her sixteenth birthday.

Games were played under weeping willow trees in the yard, and refreshments of sandwiches, coffee, cake, and candy were served at a late hour.

ROMANTIC MARRIAGE

Orange Man and Santa Ana Maid Wed at San Diego; Gifts Are Substantial

Mr. William Goddickson of Orange and Miss Mathilde Heuser of Santa Ana surprised their friends by a very quiet, unique and romantic marriage solemnized Monday, September 1st, at San Diego.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heuser of 612 East Sixth street. She is a native of South Dakota and came from there about six months ago. She graduated from the Scotland, South Dakota, high school, receiving the award of the prize scholarship offered by the Yankton College at that time, and attended Normal at Drake University at Des Moines, Iowa. She has been home-staying in South Dakota and kindling in Nebraska the past three years, at the same time being one of Fall River's competent music and school teachers. Her loving and winsome disposition has won her a legion of friends.

The groom is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Goddickson of McPherson street, Orange, Calif. He is manager and a partner in the nursery business at Yorba. He is also a South Dakota product but has grown to manhood at Orange, where his parents reside on a beautiful fruit ranch. He attended Orange County Business College at Santa Ana and is well known at Yorba and Orange and respected by everyone. He is industrious and is bound to make a success in the business world.

After these young people had pledged their marital troth to each other they left immediately for an extended auto tour through Southern California and Northern Old Mexico before going to Yorba to reside. The bride's going away suit was of King's blue French mummy cloth with hat to match. The groom was attired in the conventional black.

Among the wedding gifts were a big check from the bride's parents and a ten-acre orange ranch at Olive from the groom's parents, on which a modern residence will be built in the near future.

City Marshal Jernigan is starting a campaign to stop boy bicyclists from holding onto automobiles and street cars in motion. Several accidents have been averted by mere luck, and the practice indulged in by boys has caused considerable complaint.

The Akins had no trouble, however, as they did a real Santa clause act this morning, distributing fish among their friends here.

Miss Azee, connected with the Young Woman's Christian Association at Los Angeles, is here for a few days hoping to interest the good people of Santa Ana in the establishment of a Y.W.C.A. in this city. Mr. and Mrs. John McFadden and family are at home from an outing at Bishop, Inyo county. The trip to and from Bishop was made in two automobiles and all went well till the return trip, when the party was caught in the recent rains. HAPPENINGS IN ROME

(By Henry Wood.)

ROME, Sept. 2.—On something of the principle of "setting a thief to catch a thief," Pope Pius, in his world-wide fight against feminism, is hereafter to use the women themselves as his principal combatants for stamping out what he believes to be the evils of the movement.

This crusade of the Catholic church, which His Holiness considers equally important as and in some respects closely allied to his fight against "modernism," has up to the present moment, been largely in the hands of men—cardinals, archbishops, bishops, and priests and prelates generally. His failure to attain the ends he had hoped for is due, His Holiness now believes, largely to this one-sided nature of the combat and it is this that has decided him to seek the aid of the women themselves hereafter, placing the future of the movement largely in their hands.

As the first step to this end His Holiness today officially approved the prospectus for a worldwide international federation of the Catholic Women's Leagues. National federations of this society already exist in the United States, England and nearly all of the European countries, especially where the feminist movement is strongly pronounced.

While it is known that the general policy of this new international federation of women is to be decidedly reactionary from the point of view of many of the feminist leaders in all parts of the world, yet, with possibly one exception, it is not to be opposed to some of the more vital principles of the movement. It has been over the theory of Pope Pius X that the sphere of women should be limited absolutely to the home and the church and this restriction will be largely the basis end to be attained by the new reactionary movement.

The federation will in no way interfere with those feminine movements the aim of which is merely the highest possible development of women. In fact, it will have a propaganda all of its own to that end, but in the attainment of this highest development of which woman is capable it will seek to keep her ever within the sphere of the home, with the church as her ennobler for activities of a broader nature.

The one exception, however, that is to be made, and that is to be made at once, is that of a determined crusade against the modern evils of fashion. It was in fact, the urgent necessity of this, based largely upon the failure of the church to attain this end by the usual exhortations of the pulpit.

Less than 200 veterans of the famous brigade answered the roll call today.

No Additional Judge Being Appointed, Judge Will Cut His Vacation Short

Long Beach Man Says He Got it Straight No Appointment Would be Made

Superior Judge West is going to cut his vacation short by two weeks or more, and will be here in time to take up a criminal trial set for Sept. 10. The judge is to return earlier than he had expected for the reason that an additional judge has not been appointed, and there is no intimation that one will be appointed any time soon.

When Judge West left for Siskiyou county about August 10, he believed that an additional judge would be appointed the following Monday. A judge was not appointed then, and none has been appointed since. Each Friday County Clerk Williams has had a judge here from Los Angeles to look after the law and motion calendar, but there was no judge available to take care of the criminal business. Several accused men have been held in the county jail awaiting trial, and trials have been postponed from time to time with the expectation of an early appointment. The trial of Gonzales, charged with assault with intent to murder, is set for September 10, and Judge West will be here in time to take charge of that trial.

The failure of the governor to make an appointment has strengthened the opinions of many that no judge would be appointed, at least not in the near future.

A few days ago some further talk along this line was started when a Long Beach attorney, R. H. Jackson, who formerly lived at Orange, said that he had it "straight" that the governor would not make any appointment. Jackson was formerly minute clerk in the assembly, and is well acquainted with a good many men who are close to the administration. He stated that last week he was in San Francisco, and, being interested in Orange county affairs, made it a point to inquire among some of those that he believes are in a position to know

PANORAMIC VIEW OF GRANDSTAND AT STATE FAIR GROUNDS, SACRAMENTO — TWENTY THOUS. AND PEOPLE WATCHING FREE ATTRACTIONS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 3.—With a seating capacity of about 20,000 and spacious lawns in front of the grandstands, the State Fair at Sacramento can accommodate a very large crowd. From any seat in the three large grandstands spectators may see the entire race track and in-field. One of the grandstands, which seats more than 5,000 persons, is a free stand for which no extra charge is made. This stand, while somewhat on the order of bleachers at a baseball ground, is roofed with canvas and is quite as comfortable as the other large stands. The seating arrangements in the grandstand are quite comfortable, the seats being chairs and benches with backs to them. Every day during the fair these stands are crowded from 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, when the races begin, until sometimes as late as 6 o'clock, when the final numbers of the amusement program have been concluded.

With the lawns in front of the grandstands in fine condition this year, it will be a pleasure and comfort for spectators to spend the afternoon at the race track. The stands are kept clean, and with the race track sprinkled between each heat there will be no dust blowing. The race track is in excellent condition this year and Director Charles W. Paine, who is in charge of the track and grounds, says that some good records should be hung up next month at the fair.

The situation. He said that his information convinced him that there would be no appointment. Locally, information as to what the governor intends to do is not to be secured. The three candidates are in the dark. Many of those who have watched the matter closely, however, are of the opinion that the governor is taking his time about deciding upon the selection, and that he will make an appointment.

County Clerk Williams got a letter Saturday from Judge West in which the judge said that if needed he would come home at once. This morning Williams wired him that the business has piled up and his presence would be a relief.

Answer is Filed. An answer and cross-complaint was filed today by Long Beach attorneys for the defendant in the suit brought by the Collins Commercial Company of Balboa against M. P. Stiles, who conducts the Isis moving picture show at Balboa. The plaintiff asks $1144.21 judgment for materials furnished and work done. The defendant asserts that the amount asked is in excess of the amount due, and that the defendant only owes $50.93. Among the credits alleged is $45 because there were no electric lights in the theater on three evenings.

Default Entered. The default of the defendant has been entered in the suit brought by H. E. Lyon against Mrs. L. E. Drayco. Marriage Licenses.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

TEST BRIDGE

If the West Fifth Street Bridge is Defective, it Will Show Up Then

Purchase of Tustin School Bonds Was Up for Discussion by Board Today

If the West Fifth street bridge has any defects in it, those defects will be shown up when the Board of Supervisors conducts its test. And the test that the board is going to give the structure will be a severe one. Two thirteen and a half ton steam rollers are to be put on the bridge.

This bridge has been the subject of numerous criticisms. The board is confident that the bridge is properly built, and will stand not only any reasonable test, but also any unreasonable test. The specifications call for a bridge that will stand a weight of twenty tons. The board proposes to put the actual weight on the bridge, and not only put on twenty tons but also seven tons in addition to twenty tons.

The county has two steam rollers, one in Supervisor Leck's district and one in Supervisor Schumacher's district. They will be rolled across the bridge together, and if there is any smash to the concrete structure it ought to smash at that time. At present the bridge is closed, and it will remain closed until the Highway Commission gets the surface laid upon it.

Permit Granted. The Board of Supervisors granted a permit for building a county road across the S. P. tracks near Anaheim, on the petition of C. S. Spencer. The county to pay the cost of $169. The Railroad Commission is to pass on the matter.

It was ordered that $300 be paid M. J. Pickering for a strip of right-of-way at a corner on the state highway above Fullerton.

The petition of A. Nelson for a road was granted.

Supervisor Struck was given permission to buy a road sprinkler.

The petition of J. L. Wheeler to lay a pipeline across a road at Villa Park was granted.

The petition of G. Lillie to be appointed superintendent of the county farm was filed, with the statement that there is no vacancy to be filled.

Talk Tustin Bonds. This morning the supervisors discussed the proposal to have the county buy the $50,000 Tustin school bonds. Supervisors Leck and Smith urged the proposition strongly. The question was brought up as to what fund the money would be taken from, if it was decided to buy the bonds, and the matter was referred to the district attorney. If the bonds are bought, it is proposed only to hold them until there is a market for them.

FIGHT PROMOTERS
SEEK TO PUT BLAME
ON YOUNG'S DOCTOR

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—An apparent attempt to prove that the operation on Pugilist "Bull" Young after his knockout by Jess Willard at the Vernon Pavilion might have been a partial cause of his death, was made when the preliminary hearing of Willard and eleven other defendants was resumed today in Justice Summerfield's court.

Counsel Earl Rogers for the defense cross-examined Dr. R. B. Griffith, who performed the trephine operation on Young. Rogers compelling the witness to admit that the operation was the first he had performed alone. The surgeon became angry under Rogers' questioning and declared:

"I am not an expert but I know the technique of an operation."

Rogers asked: "The day after the operation didn't you tell me on the street that you wanted $250 for performing the operation, and when I asked why, you said your testimony in this case would be very important?"

Dr. Griffith replied: "I do not remember, but I do not think I said that."

Louise Waters, a nurse who attended Young, testified regarding his death.

Geography of Blushing. "Dogs blush," said a hunter. "Look at Carlo. I'll frighten him, and you'll see him blush plainly. Dogs blush in the tail."

He pretended that he was going to whip his hunting dog, and the animal showed the whites of its eyes in fright, while the skin of its white tail was, sure enough, suffused with blood. The tail blushed vividly.

"Horses," continued the huntsman, "blush in the ears, especially in the left ear. Cows and sheep blush just about."

Rain From a Cloudless Sky.

When rain falls from a cloudless sky it is generally believed that the moisture has been brought by the wind at a great elevation. In the south Atlantic it has been known to rain for more than an hour while the sky was entirely free from clouds. In the island of Mauritius it is not at all uncommon for rain to come from a cloudless heaven. Slight showers fall during the evening when the stars are shining brightly. It is thought by some that these showers are the result of particles of ice formed in the higher region of the atmosphere melting and falling. Others attribute it to currents of warm and cold air traveling in opposite directions, with the result that the latter condenses some of the moisture in the former and causes it to fall in the form of rain.

Where the Strain Was.

Among the ancestors of Wendell Phillips were several Puritan clergymen. Perhaps it was a push of heredity which made him, at five years of age, a preacher. His congregation was composed of circles of chairs, arranged in his father's parlor, while a taller chair, with a Bible on it, served him for a pulpit. He would harangue these wooden auditors by the hour.

"Wendell," said his father to him one day, "don't you get tired of this?" "No, papa," wittily replied the boy preacher; "I don't get tired, but it is rather hard on the chairs."

Superstitious.

"He was the most superstitious card player I ever saw." "Yes, and he got so superstitious here lately that he doesn't play cards at all now."

"Is that so?" "Yes. He suddenly discovered that there are thirteen cards in each suit."

BIDS CALLED FOR ELEVEN
MILES HERE

Supervisor Informed State Will Let Contract in This County Soon

According to information received by Supervisor William Schumacher of Buena Park, the State Highway Commission has called for bids for the construction of eleven miles of state road in Orange county.

About three weeks ago the engineering department turned over to the commission complete data for the building of the state road between Santa Ana and the county line in La Habra Valley. There remained nothing else to be done except call for bids and let a contract. Schumacher did not know when the bids will be opened.

It was proposed to let the eleven miles of state road to be built north of Santa Ana in two contracts.

A Lecture On Christian Science

Clarence W. Chadwick, C.S.B., Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Mr. Chadwick was introduced by Carl G. Strock in the following well-chosen remarks:

"Friends: We are assembled here this evening to learn something of a great religious movement unique in the history of the world as being the only one organized by a woman. Some idea of the great movement toward the Kingdom of God may be obtained by recalling that less than thirty-five years ago its following consisted of twenty-six individuals in the city of Boston, whereas today students of Christian Science may be found in every part of the civilized globe. The reason for this remarkable growth is that the thinking people are realizing Jesus not only said 'Preach the Gospel,' but he also said 'Heal the Sick.' With the wonderful light that has been thrown on these words in the revelation given us by Mrs. Eddy, Christian Scientists are able to prove in a degree at least the words that Jesus spoke when he said: 'He that believeth on me the works I do shall he do also.'"

Christian Science comes with a message of Love to all that are willing to receive it. It comes saying in the words of the Master: "I am come not to destroy but to fulfill." It seeks not to take away your love and reverence for the Bible but rather to enable you to read it with greater joy, knowing that every promise therein contained is possible of fulfillment in your own experience. One of the purposes for which these lectures are given is to correct an erroneous impression which some people have regarding the teachings and practice of Christian Science. For this purpose we have with us tonight one who is prepared to tell us more of this wonderful truth. I take great pleasure in introducing Mr. Clarence W. Chadwick, C. S. B. of Omaha, Nebraska, member of the Board of Lectureship appointed by the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., who will now address you on the subject of Christian Science."

Christian Science: "The Resurrection and the Life"

The presentation of a subject involving the vastness of infinity is destined to encounter a wide range of human belief, theory and opinion; and the question naturally suggests itself: Why is it that Christian people, actuated by the same lofty aims and ambitions, working side by side in their daily vocations, and having the same definite goal before them, should differ so radically in their thought of the infinite?

Centuries have passed since these assuring words of the prophet Jeremiah: "They shall all know me, from the least of them unto the greatest of them, saith the Lord;" and the promise of the Master: "There shall be one fold, and one shepherd," and still there is a deplorable lack of unity among professing Christians throughout the civilized world, and still we find "an altar with this inscription, To The Unknown God." Why is it? The answer is plain: humanity have been trying to know God, to see God, through the human mind or material senses. Almost unconsciously they have drifted farther and farther away from the Mind that was with Christ Jesus, and "the commandments of men" have taken the place of sound doctrine. If all in this audience could at once adopt the one essential viewpoint of Christian Science they would immediately be enabled to prove the verity of its teachings. It is not the purpose of this lecture, however, to force conclusions upon so important a subject, but to speak from that viewpoint of the Science which has enabled its adherents to find in it a satisfying explanation of the phenomenon of human existence.

Point of Agreement
There is perhaps one basic thought upon which all religions agree at the very outset, viz.: Consciousness is. We all assent to the fact that we are in a conscious state of being or existence, and that without such consciousness we would not cease to exist. So far, so good. But when we attempt to call this consciousness God, or good, we immediately plunge into an abyss of darkness from which the Christian world for centuries has been struggling to extricate itself. The mingling of good and evil, calling evil good and good evil. This dualistic concept of consciousness has been the seeming cause of untold suffering and torment to the human race. It is evident then that from it humanity must escape if they would ever reach what is called heaven. Hence their need of a Saviour.

Consciousness Defined
Here Christian Science steps forth into the arena of mental activity and gives a definition of consciousness which enables us to differentiate between what is real and eternal and what is unreal and temporal. It defines consciousness as the one infinite intelligence or Mind which is God, Life, Love, Spirit. It makes clear to the receptive thought that the so-called consciousness of both good and evil is but the forbidden fruit of the tree of knowledge, and "is enmity against God." Real consciousness being God, it is infinite, all-comprehensive and everpresent. The moment this supersensible fact is admitted we are divinely empowered to begin the all-important work of purifying that consciousness which claims the capacity and privilege to cognize evil as well as good.

Transformation of Human Consciousness
This one statement on page 276 of Science and Health by Mrs. Eddy, "Real consciousness is cognizant only of the things of God," has already aroused a slumbering world from its dream of life in matter to the great need of mental transformation, for it is the abnormal human consciousness that is referred to in the scriptural passages: "No man hath seen God at any time," and "There shall no man see me and live." Is it any wonder that the apostle admonished, "Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind?" This renewing of the mind involves the separation of good and evil in consciousness, of right thought and wrong thought, a mental process which every human being must undergo before he can fully awaken to the perfection of being. Heaven is, always has been, and always will be, a divine harmonious state of consciousness into which no erroneous or evil thought ever entered or ever can enter. It therefore follows conclusively that all wrong thought must be purged from consciousness, and that our heaven will be found here and now just to the extent that we reject the evil and lay hold of the good. How to distinguish between right and wrong thought will be our main concern. Right thoughts or ideas in Christian Science emanate from the one divine Mind or intelligence. They are the only avenues or channels through which the one Mind finds expression. We could not conceive of an expressionless Mind or intelligence. Wrong thoughts are beliefs only, therefore finite, mutable and mortal. They do not convey intelligence or real Mind to man. They have neither Principle, power nor law to sustain them, and no mission to perform. Wrong thoughts are neither conscious nor a part of real consciousness. In no way does God sanction or uphold them. But how shall we detect and cast out such counterfeiters of reality? Obviously by gaining an understanding of genuine or right thoughts. Jesus said, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." The right idea of intelligence or Mind and of what constitutes its expression or manifestation will free us from any mistaken sense of Mind. It is always a knowledge of the truth which corrects and does away with mistakes. So long as we believe in both good and evil we fail to understand the true nature of either. The moment we accept good as supreme and as the only reality of being, that very moment do we acknowledge a divine Principle or law which operates mentally through the idea of infinite good to destroy all belief in evil. Here, then, is the way out of our dilemma.

Right Mental Activity
If two men are in a frenzied state of thought, and almost upon the point of inflicting bodily injury upon each other, we all know that a certain degree of right mental activity on their part will soon restore harmony. In fact we cannot think of any other possible means of bringing about such a result. If a pupil in mathematics becomes confused in thought and cannot work out his problem, we know that the instant the right thought will soon adjust the difficulty and enable him to solve his problem. We all acknowledge that his state of consciousness must change before he can complete his work.

If a friend is prostrated with grief and thinking that life is drear and lonely, we know and acknowledge that the application of rightly directed thought will very soon act as oil upon the troubled waters, and mourning will be turned into joy. If fear overwhelms one we admit that a thought of God's power and presence, very soon banishes the fear. Then why should not the poor sick man, suffering from some ailment which has no possible existence outside of the realm of mortal consciousness, be healed through the operation of God's thoughts? The activity of right thought is no finite or limited capacity. Neither is it any respecter of persons, troubles or diseases. It is as natural for right thought to heal as it is for the sun to shine. All of the mental disorders which we know yield to the exercise of right thinking are capable of producing what are termed physical or bodily diseases. To say then that such diseases, which are only a different form of error, cannot be reached by mental means, is to dispute the application of spiritually enlightened thought.

When the right idea of God as being the one infinite all-good consciousness enters the area of our thinking and reasoning capacity, the activity of the mind is allowed to assert itself, and just as darkness is displaced by the light, so are wrong thoughts displaced by scientific or God-like thoughts. The moment the true idea of mind enters individual consciousness, work begins therein. This idea, operating through law and as law, demands the perfect readjustment of finite human consciousness. The indisputable mission or purpose of a right or divine idea is primarily to proclaim the true nature of its source or Principle, and incidentally to disclose the unreal nature of any other source of origin. The divine idea is Mind's true and lawful representative, and Mind has no other. It is the only agent that is clothed with power and authority to carry out the purposes of its Principle, God. Let us never forget that the only power in the universe is mental and is expressed or reflected through the divine idea, never through human beliefs. In all directions, far and near, we hear of the continuous unfolding of this universal idea of Mind, of the wonderful healing and transformation of human thought, of the peace and joy and happiness that have entered into the world through its loving ministrations, and we are led to exclaim: "Is not this the Christ?"

The Christ Within
The world is fast losing its limited personal sense of the Saviour of men and is looking more to the Christ within. It is a present resurrection; and spiritual Life that Christians are most deeply interested in. Christian Science urges upon all mankind the necessity of opening the door of consciousness to receive this everpresent saving Christ idea which comes as a "word with healing in its wings." David cried, "Who is this king of glory? The Lord strong and mighty, the Lord mighty in battle." This certainly conveys an impersonal concept of the Christ, Truth, a divine activity or influence which is indeed mighty to heal all our diseases. Every human failure to prove the power of good is a failure to yield to the divine Christ within. Whenever human will surrenders to the divine idea there is a victory won on the side of Truth, but not before. The great Teacher of mankind, whose consciousness was ever dominated by the Christ idea, said, "I can of mine own self do nothing." What a rebuke to pride and human will power! If all who profess to love the Truth could grasp the metaphysical viewpoint of the great apostle when he said, "Through Christ which strengtheneth me I can do all things," they would be in touch with the only healing and redeeming activity known to the world. This Christ idea speaking through Jesus said, "Without me (severed from me) ye can do nothing." This statement is of vital import to the whole world, for severed from the understanding of the true idea through which the nature of divinity is imparted to humanity, we would all find ourselves in a very sad plight, without healing or salvation. As we step to ponder the thought that good can find expression only through goodness, Love only through that which loves, Truth only through that which is truthful, we can begin to see the intimate relationship between God and His idea. They are indissolubly connected, so that they never have existed and never can exist separate and apart from each other; they are one in essence or being, as indicated by Jesus' own words: "I and my Father are one." The Christ idea, therefore, was never for one moment separated from the Father, but through the pure humanity of Jesus it found its normal and harmonious manifestation in those wonderful words and works which are today as never before attracting worldwide attention.

Our Saviour
A right idea is a saving idea. When it is that an erroneous concept of God is really responsible for all the evil in the world, it will naturally follow that a right concept of Deity will be the only means of correcting such evil. And this correction will take place in human consciousness where all belief in evil must obtain. Thus we find in Christian Science that the right idea of good frees us from every evil thing that is unlike good. The right idea of health enables us to overcome disease as well as a mistaken sense of health; the right idea of Love destroys all sense of hate; the right idea of power enables us to prove the dominion of good; the right idea of supply makes it possible to conquer all belief in poverty or lack; the right idea of success leads to the overcoming of all worldly aims and ambitions; the right idea of Spirit turns the light of spiritual understanding on matter and robs it of all life, substance and intelligence, thus enabling us to overcome its discordant conditions and so-called laws; the right idea of causation does away with belief in secondary or evil causes; the right idea of activity leads to the subjugation of the self-assertive human will; in other words, the right idea of God, man and the universe is our present means of escape from all that would separate us from God, good. Is not this "the resurrection and the life?"

As human consciousness becomes purged of the dross of materialism, it is resurrected from a false material sense to a higher or spiritual sense. Only through this thorough purification of thought can we come face to face mentally with things spiritual and eternal. "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God," good. God is not to be reached by material means, but only by the activity of thought. Whoever insists upon owning such a consciousness has therefore not partaken of the resurrection. This fact is one that should receive more thoughtful consideration at the hands of all Christian people, for it most vitally concerns the welfare of all humanity. The most unnatural of all unnatural things is to believe that evil is any part of real consciousness. Such belief does not honor our Creator. The possibility of finally attaining a perfect state of consciousness is patent to all Christian Scientists, and there is untold joy and happiness and satisfaction in striving for its accomplishment here and now. It pays daily dividends in a renewed sense of health, strength and happiness. Only through the coming of Christ, of the true idea of God, can this ever take place.

When Christ appears, the tares are bound in bundles to burn, while the wheat is gathered into the Father's storehouse. He who is first to acknowledge that the dual consciousness of good and evil is in absolute need of a Saviour is the first to acquaint himself with God and to be at peace.

Love For Christ Jesus

There are no people on earth who feel and express more genuine affection and love for Christ Jesus than do Christian Scientists. They not only believe that they understand why he is to them "the resurrection and the life." They reverently acknowledge him as the Saviour of the world, and they are striving to keep his commandments. They know only too well that something more than lip service is required to enable them to follow in his mental footsteps. They realize that the whole plan of salvation is nothing short of a mental and moral healing and regeneration, whereby the so-called human consciousness surrenders to the divine, which, as has already been stated, "is cognizant only of the things of God." This being the case we must begin now to think our way into the kingdom of heaven. No one of us will ever reach this harmonious state without being conscious of it. It is not an experience outside of or independent of consciousness. The apostle knew this when admonishing us to have in us the same mind that was in Christ Jesus. He knew that there was a mental crucifixion and resurrection for us all to pass through before we can become conscious of good only. The Christ idea of purity, operating in human consciousness, offers to Christian Scientists and to all others the only means of escape from wrong thinking and its attendant discordant effects. Jesus taught "as one having authority," and not as the scribes. What gave him authority to speak as never man spake and to do the works which the scribes and Pharisees did not and could not do? Was it not his transcendent sense of the naturalness of good? He recognized the sovereignty of good and yielded uncompromising obedience thereto. This very obedience endowed him with power from on High, and in the measure of our obedience to this same divine principle, which Science calls God, we too can reflect the same power.

Is it sacrilege for us to lay claim to our divine inheritance, to think and to act as if we possessed at least a measure of divine intelligence?—could we very well do otherwise if we are to allow the Christ Mind to control us?

Good All Power

One of the very first things which the student of Christian Science does after gaining even a faint glimpse of the truth of his being is to give all power to good and none to evil. The door to the kingdom of heaven is opened to him the moment he does this. Then he wonders why he spent so many years in believing in two powers while calling one of them omnipotent. The inconsistency of such a mental attitude never before appeared to him. He now sees where it was the main barrier to his moral and spiritual growth. This one point in metaphysics is so simple that multitudes of professing Christians stumble over it. They pray earnestly for deliverance from evil, but never once does it occur to them to give all power to good by withholding all from evil. When he declares that he believes that God is almighty, but still believes that there is an evil power, this bars the door to the coming of Christ, Truth, to the coming of that spiritual activity which corrects and destroys all mistaken belief in a good and evil power. When all Christian people are ready to take Jesus at his word and to call evil a self-constituted lie as he did, they will comprehend for the first time the true significance of omnipotence, and meekly, humbly and joyfully begin to do the healing works which may do wonders why he spent so many years in believing in two powers while calling one of them omnipotent. This one point in metaphysics is so simple that multitudes of professing Christians stumble over it. They pray earnestly for deliverance from evil, but never once does it occur to them to give all power to good by withholding all from evil. When he declares that he believes that God is almighty, but still believes that there is an evil power, this bars the door to the coming of Christ, Truth, to the coming of that spiritual activity which corrects and destroys all mistaken belief in a good and evil power. When all Christian people are ready to take Jesus at his word and to call evil a self-constituted lie as he did, they will comprehend for the first time the true significance of omnipotence, and meekly, humbly and joyfully begin to do the healing works which may do wonders why he spent so many years in believing in two powers while calling one of them omnipotent. The inconsistency of such a mental attitude never before appeared to him. He now sees where it was the main barrier to his moral and spiritual growth. Makes Buildings

30 Degrees

Cooler

On a hot summer day the temperature in the upper part of a building covered with

J-M Asbestos Ready Roofing is

from 15 to 30 degrees

colder than with any other roofing. The white asbestos surface reflects the heat instead of absorbing it and transmitting

it to the rooms below.

This is only one of the exclusive features of

J-M ASBESTOS

ROOFING

Besides making a building

colder in summer and warmer in winter, it is the only ready roofing that never needs painting. J-M Asbestos is also the only ready roofing that is fire-proof.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

The change in the weather had but little apparent effect in the local produce market yesterday, and despite the threatening overhanging clouds a large quantity of produce was moved.

On the whole, conditions are a bit brighter for the produce men than a week or more ago. Fresh fruit is not coming to the local commission men and jobbers in such large quantities, and the demand remaining good,

practically all are now able to clean up the greater part of their perishable fruit day by day.

Eggs are still soaring, due to the present limited supply, which has been influenced, to a great extent, by the warm weather of the last week, with the prevailing quotation at 34 cents, jobbers' price, a cent per dozen in advance of that figure, was bid on the exchange yesterday with no offerings.

Butter, on the other hand, declined a cent, and the jobbers' quotation was fixed at 29 cents.

The honey market at present is inactive. Although large shipments of good quality honey have been received locally, there is not a large amount being sold. The price asked by the me shall not walk in darkness but shall have the light of life." How shall we follow the great Wayshow except as we begin to think as he thought? His whole life was one continuous service of thinking and doing good. His mission was to abolish from consciousness all thought of death, and to bring "life and immortality to light through the gospel." Could this have been done through any human power, mind or intelligence? No, Jesus wrought through the divine idea which forever expresses divine wisdom, power and intelligence. Without the operation of this divine idea in human consciousness, the gospel of "on earth peace, good will toward men," would never have been taught or demonstrated. It constitutes the very life blood of the Christian religion, the unimpeded growth and success of the Christian Science movement is wholly due to the activity of the true idea of God as voiced to the world in Mrs. Eddy's discovery of the Science of Mind-healing.

Right mental action is necessarily associated with right thoughts or ideas. It is not expressed through erroneous thought. Why were there no healing works accredited to John the Baptist? Because, according to his own admission, he was not in possession of the Christ consciousness. Jesus said of John: "Among them that are born of women there hath not risen a greater than John the Baptist; notwithstanding he that is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he." This somewhat remarkable statement would indicate that the least degree of spiritual understanding is greater than anything possessed by the so-called human mind as defined in John. This ought to prove to all thinking persons the futility of looking to any human source for healing or redemption. If the highest type of human thought could not heal in John's time, it cannot be expected to do so today. This leads at once to the subject of healing as understood and practiced in Christian Science.

What Is It That Heals?
After what has already been said about the spiritual idea one will naturally anticipate the answer to the question, "What is it that heals?" It must be that which expresses activity, law, and intelligence, and nothing does this except God's perfect idea. The only power that operates through the idea of infinite good is God, Infinite Mind, as Jesus indicated when he said, "The Father that worketh in me, he doeth the works." This understanding of the power that heals separates Christian Science healing from all systems which employ the mesmeric or counterforce of the human mind or will. The Christ method of healing is rapidly spreading throughout the civilized world.

Curing vs. Healing
Christian Science makes a clear-cut distinction between physical curing and mental healing. It does not deny the many instances of seeming restoration to health effected through various human systems, but it does declare that until the true idea of God is allowed to enter individual consciousness and to purge out all fear and the belief in an evil power and causation, the Christ healing has not been effected. It declares that real healing can be accomplished only through that intelligent activity which decrees the destruction of wrong motives and the desire to sin. Then is the individual "free indeed," for the Son, the Christ idea, is the only channel through which such healing could come. The limited operation of human consciousness does not lay the axe at the root of the trouble; it is palliative rather than corrective. It deals almost wholly with physical symptoms and so fails to grasp the one all-important subject of mental causation. Christian Science healing, on the other hand, is based on the reasons from cause to effect, and thus first establishes in thought what it would have externalized on the body. It knows that because the body is embraced in consciousness the only way to reach the body is through Mind, through consciousness, not through unconscious matter. It says to the sick and suffering: Resist the thought of disease, know that it is not a manifestation of intelligence and that God forbids all belief in it; awake mentally and lay claim to better "things which God hath prepared for them that love him." The power of right thought is your unfailing remedy.

Treatment
He alone understands the modus of treatment in Christian Science who grasps the spirit of the Lord's prayer, "Thy Kingdom come, thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven." Scientific treatment is the utilization of the power of right thought. It is the unerring and unceasing operation of God's law of perfection, which is necessarily curative because it is corrective. It is the activity of the Christ idea silencing all evil arguments and declaring the omnipotence and omnipresence of good. It is not the influence of one human mind over another. Human will or so-called mental suggestion does not enter into Christian Science treatment any more than it does in true prayer. Right treatment is right mental activity, and this is always spiritual, never human or material. Treatment is prayer in its highest and truest sense. It is knowing what really is.

Results
What of the results of scientific treatment? Observation and experience both compel us to admit that the most successful and salutary influence known to the world today is the practice of Christian Science. As a prophylactic with both children and adults it has no competer. Unnumbered cases of healing of nearly every known disease, many of those pronounced incurable by the ablest medical authorities, stand as living monuments to the power of Truth. So many such instances of healing are in evidence that practically the whole world agree on one point, that Christian Science does heal the sick. And it is fast acknowledging something of still greater moment, that what is called physical healing in Christian Science is but the "outward visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace," which characterizes the Christ consciousness. Christian Science teaches us to seek "first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness," and through obedience, moral and physical healing ensues to prove that we have touched the hem of the seamless robe of righteous thinking. Christian Science declares that there can be no reformation without a change of consciousness. Standing upon this basis it becomes the only sure character builder. There are thousands in the various walks of life whose lives have been radically and permanently transformed through the ministrations of Christian Science. They not only believe but they know that they have found the pearl of great price, the mental method by which they can work out their own salvation. They have learned to discriminate between the consciousness of good, and that of the uncorrected carnal or mortal mind which is enmity against good. This enables them to be more useful men and women in every department of life. The world is fast recognizing this fact and is calling upon Christian Scientists to fill important posts of duty for which their mental awakening has specially prepared them. Christian Science offers the one and only solution of the temperance problem, because it recognizes false appetites as residing in human consciousness and consequently deals with them mentally rather than externally. One Christian Science treatment has frequently cast out the demon of intemperance in its worst form. It has also healed the morphine, cocaine and other demoralizing habits. Where there has been a "first a willing mind," there is no form of human degradation and vice that has not yielded to the activity of right thought. Right treatment is necessarily corrective and reformatory, and when it has eliminated sin from thought (by sin we mean all erroneous thinking) it has wiped out the cause of all the discordant conditions of earth. This is precisely what Christian Science is doing. It recognizes the healing of disease as always incidental to the conquering of the mortal mind, under whatever guise it may appear.

The world's literature is rapidly becoming permeated with higher ideals of life, resulting from the leavening influence of the Christ idea of purity. The cause of clean journalism has received a mighty impetus in the publication of the Christian Science Monitor, a daily newspaper for the home, free from all demoralizing news items and from unreliable advertising. Could anyone deny the effective operation of right thought in projecting such a stupendous national enterprise? Surely not. In national, state and municipal activities we witness the steady advance and achievement of right thought. What but the spiritual idea, expressing the power, law and dominion of invincible right, could inspire and lead on such a mighty conflict? Truly says our leader: "The world feels the alterative effect of truth through every pore" (Science and Health, page 224). There are countless thousands of earth's people who want to be right with God, and to be of service to their fellow man, and Christian Science is satisfying their longings as nothing else can. Why? Because it is "the resurrection and the life" to all who would know and do the will of the Father. To be right with God it is absolutely necessary to understand who man is and how he is related to God.

The Real Man
Incorrect or unscientific thinking based upon sense testimony cannot define the real man, created in God's image and likeness. Nothing but the application of scientific thought will ever reveal the true nature of man, since man's only existence must be in the realm of conscious mental activity. That state of consciousness which loves good supremely and keeps the commandments is the real man. This man's consciousness can be nothing less than the reflection of the divine mind. It will be conceded that God's man is essentially spiritual, being the image and likeness of Spirit. But does this signify that he is an unknown quantity in human experience, that he is impractical and inaccessible? Far from it. On the contrary, wherever we witness some act of kindness, some unselfish act, some manifestation of justice and mercy, of love and compassion, there we catch a glimpse of the real man. And when every ungodlike thought is purged from consciousness, nothing but the attributes of good and evidence, the active manifestation of expression of these attributes will constitute true manhood and womanhood. It therefore must be evident to all that the more active we are in reflecting good, the more we are in reflecting the spirit of the Father, the more we are in reflecting the spirit of the Father, the more we are in reflecting the spirit of the Father.

Perfect Thought Models
When it is learned that perfect thought models are absolutely indispensable to the correction and right education of human consciousness, the importance of discriminating carefully between authorized and unauthorized literature will be patent to all honest people. The idea of perfect God and perfect man, which is the basis of Christian Science practice, is the distinguishing feature of all genuine Christian Science literature. Wherever this idea becomes obscured through any deflecting thought of the writer, the human mind may easily be misled. If we insist upon clinging to the Bible and Science and Health as our only textbooks, we are in no danger of being led astray.

Conclusion
In our efforts to understand and to prove the glorious truths of Christian Science, let us not be "weary in well doing," for "in due season we shall reap if we faint not." May we all learn to "stand still" and see the salvation of God with us, learn to silence the material senses and realize that the eternal God of Life, Truth and Love is our refuge, "and underneath are the everlasting arms." Then can we say from the heart: "Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift," Christian Science.

A Practical Suggestion
Christian Science does not quarrel with anyone over the subject of matter, but it makes this practical suggestion, that we keep thought away from matter long enough to discover first the modus and action of the spiritual idea. If we will but accept trustingly the idea of the supremacy of divine Mind, and apply it to the correction of some distressing physical or mental condition, according to rules laid down for scientific practice, the healing that takes place will throw a new light upon matter, a light which must forever silence all opposition to whatever Christian Science has to say about the nothingness of matter. Fortunately for the human race matter cannot interpret Spirit, else all would be matter. But Spirit can and does interpret matter, and behold, all is Mind, and so-called material substance appears and disappears as only a mental human concept. Upon this sure foundation any honest Truth seeker may prove by degrees his God-given dominion over matter, and the hypothetical "atom" and the more modern but equally hypothetical "ion" will be relegated to their primal nothingness. The atomic theory, and that is all that it ever was—a mere theory—has not advanced the health or morals of mankind. It has never enabled anyone to become spiritually minded. It has never revealed the Christ idea to humanity. Instead it has upheld death and denied eternal life to man. Should Christian Science be condemned for explaining away a theory which has never even claimed to purify and to elevate human consciousness? It does this not by argument but by demonstration.

Demonstration
Demonstration is the one thing that is always right and never requires any argument to sustain it. No one should want to talk Christian Science unless he is living the life. If he is overcoming evil with good he has divine authority to "speak the word," and it will be with power. Demonstration never ensues from working with or through matter. There is just one premise that permits of scientific demonstration and that is the allness of Mind. Real Mind never mixes with anything. It is the infinite "light of life" in whom is no darkness at all. Because it has no affinity with darkness it is a law of exclusion to all that is unlike itself. For this and no other reason does it heal the sick and reform the sinner. Whatever works from two bases necessarily denies the omnipotence of good and fails to demonstrate the Truth of being. Demonstration is not willing things to come our way. It is the loving and willing surrender of selfish interests for the good of humanity. It is always the conquest of self. It is the practice of the golden rule.

Belief vs. Understanding
There may be some people who believe that Christian Science is capable of doing evil as well as good. The same opinion was lodged against the Master by those who accused him of casting out devils through Beelzebub. But no one can ever know that Jesus did evil, nor will anyone ever know that Christian Science is capable of accomplishing evil. Belief and knowing are two different things. The human mind can believe anything, but to know involves a knowledge of facts. One might believe that the earth is flat, but he could not know it to be so; or that two and two are five, but he could not know it. There are two points we should not overlook while considering this subject. The first is, that whatever we may believe concerning any fact does not change or alter the fact itself—it still remains a fact. The second is this, that the moment the fact becomes known in any given case, the belief, however plausible or real it may have seemed to be, vanishes as a dream. All who know what Christian Science is have surrendered blind belief for spiritual understanding. Belief is like counterfeit money, the instant it is detected for what it really is, it is proven worthless and by every honest person is withdrawn from circulation.

The Way Out
The surest and safest way of riding one's self of any and all belief relative to Christian Science is to procure a copy of its textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, and to study it along with the Bible. Simply reading these books with a view to criticizing them from an intellectual standpoint will avail little. It is the honest student who scales the summit of right conclusions by conquering spiritual things. He will naturally look deeply into Science and reach the point of demonstration before passing judgment.

There is no more profound subject than the science of being, and those who would know what Christian Science teaches and be able to demonstrate it should confine their study to the published works of our Leader and to the authorized literature of the Christian Science Publishing Society in Boston. There is no other safe course to pursue, for the reason that there are so many human adulterations broadcast today purporting to elucidate Christian Science that one is very liable to encounter and to be misled by them until he learns more of the subtle attempts of error to obscure the healing Christ idea. Many well-meaning people have made their experience with this class of literature, and it has usually been one of mental confusion and disappointment.

MUTUAL RELATIONS AND INTERESTS OF THE BELL SYSTEM AND THE PUBLIC
The suit brought by the United States questioning the purchase of certain telephone properties in the north-west, as well as the pending Interstate Commerce Commission telephone investigation, have caused many inquiries. Without taking up anything going to the merits of these proceedings, it has seemed to us proper to state generally what has been our policy and purpose in the conduct of our business.

We have found, or thought that we had, that our interests were best served when the public interests were best served; and we believe that such success as we have had has been because our business has been conducted on these lines.

We believe that our company has an interest as vital as that of the public in the proper administration of the problems of electrical inter-communication. The success and prosperity of our company depend upon a solution of these problems which shall be sound from both the standpoint of the company and the public which it serves.

Following our own best judgment, supplemented by the best obtainable information, we have endeavored to do what would best serve the public interest, wherever possible our plans have been disclosed to the public in advance, and what has been done in carrying them out has been along ordinary business lines, with the implied, and generally, with the expressed approval, authorization or consent of the municipal and state authorities directly interested.

Our effort has been not only to obey the law, but to avoid everything which might even have the appearance of an attempt at evasion.

Our business methods and policy, and practically all the details as to the transaction of our business, are matters of common knowledge and are, and for many years have been, well known to the government. We will willingly furnish the government any additional information which is in our possession or under our control, and will cordially co-operate with it in obtaining such further information as it may require. Every possible assistance will be given by us to the courts in their effort to determine whether our policy is or has been inimical to the public interest. We desire that anything wrong be corrected; we will voluntarily rectify any wrong that may be pointed out to us; and, so far as it may be determined that our policy or any act under it is against the public interest, we will promptly conform to such determination.

We believe that if each of our exchanges were made an independent unit and if each connecting line were under a separate control, the effect upon the telephone service of the country would be a condition so intolerable that the public would refuse to submit to it and would immediately require such physical connection and common control of these various units as would amalgamate them into a single system. Physical connection in the case of telephone or telegraph does not mean transfer of messages from one line to the other. It means such a connection as will permit one to have the actual possession of the particular line of communication from one end of it to the other, and this can only be given so long as by exchange systems and connecting lines under a common control; and that is what the Bell System is.

In this connection, and for general information, we will restate the policy which controlled the building up of the Bell System, and our belief as to what a telephone system should be, and what are its relations to the public.

We believe in and were the first to advocate state or government control and regulation of the utilities; that this control or regulation should be by permanent quasi-judicial bodies, acting after thorough investigation and governed by the equities of each case; and that this control or regulation, beyond requiring the greatest efficiency and economy, should not interfere with management or operation. We believe that these bodies, if they are permanent, effective and of public benefit, should be thoroughly representative and should be of such character and should conduct their investigations and deliberations so as to command such respect from both the public and the corporations that both will without question accept their conclusions.

We believe that the public would in this way get all the advantages and avoid all the manifest disadvantages of public ownership.

We believe that centers of business and population exist for the convenience of the public as a whole, and that no such center can prosper without sufficient and efficient means of intercourse with other centers and tributary territories; that such means can only be afforded by prosperous utility and service companies and that fair rates are essential to prosperous companies. We do not believe that any can either desire or can obtain, nor can any service or utility furnish, permanent and efficient service at less than cost, including capital charges.

We believe that ultimately the public either directly or indirectly pays the losses involved in the efforts to furnish such service at less than its fair cost, either through the loss of the capital involved, the losses incident to poor service or the necessary increase in charges required to pay for duplication of capital.

We believe that the highest commercial value of the telephone service depends on its completeness—on the extent and comprehensiveness of the facilities for intercommunication, not only between individuals but between centers of population; that no isolated section can be considered independent of any other section or of the whole; that rates must be so adjusted as to make it possible to obtain the maximum development by making it possible for every one to be connected with the greatest number; that the interdependence of the telephone service, and the value of complete and universal intercommunication justify and require some services partly at the expense of the whole for the benefit of the whole.

We believe that this highest commercial value can only be attained by one system under one common control and that it cannot be given by independent systems unless they are operated under agreements which result in one common control and one common interest, in effect making them a single system.

We believe that rates should be so adjusted as to afford the company sufficient revenue to pay such wages and compensation as will secure the most efficient service; to maintain the very highest and most advanced standards of plant and apparatus, to carry on such scientific and experimental research and inventions as to apparatus and methods as to insure the highest standards, and to carry to reserve and depreciation such amounts as will enable the company at any time to replace old plant and old methods with new plant and new methods as fast as they may be developed and found to be to the advantage of the service. We believe that in addition, such fair charges should be paid upon the investment in plant as will enable the company at any time to obtain money necessary to provide the plant required to meet the continuing demands of the public; and in order that waste and duplication of effort may be avoided and uniformity of purpose and common control be enforced, that there should be a centralized general administration in close communication with and having general authority over the whole on matters common to all or matters of general policy.

We believe that any surplus beyond that necessary to equalize dividends on a fair basis should be used by the company for the benefit of the public and should be inalienable for any other purpose, and should be either invested in revenue-earning plant until necessary to substitute plant which may become inadequate or obsolete, or should be used to make the service cheaper or better.

We believe that under proper governmental control and regulation the profits from promotion or operation allowed to be distributed should not be so large as to warrant or tempt complete duplication of plant and organization, with its duplication of its capital charges and its organization, operating, maintenance and depreciation expenses; and we do not believe that utilities giving at fair rates an efficient and sufficiently comprehensive universal service should be subject to limited competition, not giving such service. Competition which ignores the obligation to furnish a complete and comprehensive service is not competition, is not for the benefit of the public in that it does not reach the whole public interested.

If, therefore, complete duplication, with its dual exchange, connection and dual bills for service, is a prerequisite to complete competition, government control and regulation cannot go hand in hand with competition.

We believe that the record of the Bell System will be accepted by the public as fully in accord with these declarations. Consistent adherence to this policy has given the public of the United States the best, most comprehensive and cheapest telephone service in the world and made the Bell standards the standards of all nations.

We will willingly furnish the government any additional information which is in our possession or under our control, and will cordially co-operate with it in obtaining such further information as it may require. Every possible assistance will be given by us to the courts in their effort to determine whether our policy is or has been inimical to the public interest. We desire that anything wrong be corrected; we will voluntarily rectify any wrong that may be pointed out to us; and, so far as it may be determined that our policy or any act under it is against the public interest, we will promptly conform to such determination.

We believe that if each of our exchanges were made an independent unit and if each connecting line were under a separate control, the effect upon the telephone service of the country would be a condition so intolerable that the public would refuse to submit to it and would immediately require such physical connection and common control of these various units as would amalgamate them into a single system. Physical connection in the case of telephone or telegraph does not mean transfer of messages from one line to the other. It means such a connection as will permit one to have the actual possession of the particular line of communication from one end of it to the other, and this can only be given so long as by exchange systems and connecting lines under a common control; and that is what the Bell System is.

In this connection, and for general information, we will restate the policy which controlled the building up of the Bell System, and our belief as to what a telephone system should be, and what are its relations to the public.

We believe in and were the first to advocate state or government control and regulation of the utilities; that this control or regulation should be by permanent quasi-judicial bodies, acting after thorough investigation and governed by the equities of each case; and that this control or regulation, beyond requiring the greatest efficiency and economy, should not interfere with management or operation. We believe that these bodies, if they are permanent, effective and of public benefit, should be thoroughly representative and should be of such character and should conduct their investigations and deliberations so as to command such respect from both the public and the corporations that both will without question accept their conclusions.

We believe that the public would in this way get all the advantages and avoid all the manifest disadvantages of public ownership.

We believe that centers of business and population exist for the convenience of the public as a whole, and that no such center can prosper without sufficient and efficient means of intercourse with other centers and tributary territories; that such means can only be afforded by prosperous utility and service companies and that fair rates are essential to prosperous companies. We do not believe that any can either desire or can obtain, nor can any service or utility furnish, permanent and efficient service at less than cost, including capital charges.

We believe that ultimately the public either directly or indirectly pays the losses involved in the efforts to furnish such service at less than its fair cost, either through the loss of the capital involved, the losses incident to poor service or the necessary increase in charges required to pay for duplication of capital.

We believe that the highest commercial value of the telephone service depends on its completeness—on the extent and comprehensiveness of the facilities for intercommunication, not only between individuals but between centers of population; that no isolated section can be considered independent of any other section or of the whole; that rates must be so adjusted as to make it possible to obtain the maximum development by making it possible for every one to be connected with the greatest number; that the interdependence of the telephone service, and the value of complete and universal intercommunication justify and require some services partly at the expense of the whole for the benefit of the whole.

We believe that this highest commercial value can only be attained by one system under one common control and that it cannot be given by independent systems unless they are operated under agreements which result in one common control and one common interest, in effect making them a single system.

We believe that rates should be so adjusted as to afford the company sufficient revenue to pay such wages and compensation as will secure the most efficient service; to maintain the very highest and most advanced standards of plant and apparatus, to carry on such scientific and experimental research and inventions as to apparatus and methods as to insure the highest standards, and to carry to reserve and depreciation such amounts as will enable the company at any time to replace old plant and old methods with new plant and new methods as fast as they may be developed and found to be to the advantage of the service. We believe that in addition, such fair charges should be paid upon the investment in plant as will enable the company at any time to obtain money necessary to provide the plant required to meet the continuing demands of the public; and in order that waste and duplication of effort may be avoided and uniformity of purpose and common control be enforced, that there should be a centralized general administration in close communication with and having general authority over the whole on matters common to all or matters of general policy.

We believe that any surplus beyond that necessary to equalize dividends on a fair basis should be used by the company for the benefit of the public and should be inalienable for any other purpose, and should be either invested in revenue-earning plant until necessary to substitute plant which may become inadequate or obsolete, or should be used to make the service cheaper or better.

We believe that under proper governmental control and regulation the profits from promotion or operation allowed to be distributed should not be so large as to warrant or tempt complete duplication of plant and organization, with its duplication of its capital charges and its organization, operating, maintenance and depreciation expenses; and we do not believe that utilities giving at fair rates an efficient and sufficiently comprehensive universal service should be subject to limited competition, not giving such service. Competition which ignores the obligation to furnish a complete and comprehensive service is not competition, is not for the benefit of the public in that it does not reach the whole public interested.

If, therefore, complete duplication, with its dual exchange, connection and dual bills for service, is a prerequisite to complete competition, government control and regulation cannot go hand in hand with competition.

We believe that the record of the Bell System will be accepted by the public as fully in accord with these declarations. Consistent adherence to this policy has given the public of the United States the best, most comprehensive and cheapest telephone service in the world and made the Bell standards the standards of all nations.

To remove any possible excuse for misunderstanding on account of the many misleading statements which have been circulated as to the alleged unnecessary and overcapitalization and excessive charges of the Bell System, the following statistics are given. Except where stated, the figures are for the Bell System; that is, the American Telephone and Telegraph, and its Associated Companies.

The entire Bell System on June 30, 1913, had outstanding in the hands of the public obligations (i. e., notes, open accounts, bonds and shares) to the par value of $776,000,000.

The book value of the total tangible assets, which is considerably less than their replacement value, amounted to $960,000,000. Many appraisals of property included in these assets have been made, and most of them under the direction of public authorities. In no case has the value as it stands on the books failed to be sustained, and in most cases it has been very largely exceeded.

The total dividends and interest paid during the year 1912 amounted to only 6.1 per cent on the average of its outstanding obligations, and to less than 5 per cent on the average value of its assets.

The actual cash which has been paid into the treasury of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company on account of the capital obligations now outstanding amounts to $220,000,000 more than the par of such outstanding obligations.

The Associated Companies collected from the public and paid back in taxes over $10,000,000 during the year 1912.

The steadily increasing necessities of the public not only for additional but for new telephone service can only be met by new construction, involving capital outlay. To meet these demands during the six and one-half years from 1907 to June, 1913, inclusive, the increase in telephone plant was as follows: Toll line wire increased from 1,460,000 miles to 2,242,000 miles; exchange wire increased from 6,000,000 miles to 13,000,000 miles; the number of exchange stations increased from 2,730,000 to 5,200,000; the number of stations of independent companies connected with the Bell System increased from 343,000 to 2,620,000. The number of independent companies connected with the Bell System is about 25,000. The number of employees in the Bell System, not including the employees of connected companies, on December 31, 1912, was 141,000.

During this same period the number of shareholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, not including either the associated or connected companies, increased from 17,000 to about 54,000. About 47,000 shareholders hold less than 100 shares each; 6,500 shareholders hold from 100 to 1,000 shares each; 347 shareholders hold from 1,000 to 5,000 shares each, while there are only 16 shareholders of 5,000 shares or over in their own right. A majority of the shareholders are women.
